It is the fashion to laugh at the severity with which horse stealing is punished on the border, but the reasons are evident. Horses are the most valuable property of the frontiersman, whether cowboy, hunter or settler, and are often absolutely essential to his well-being, and even to his life. They are always marketable and they are easily stolen, for they carry themselves off instead of having to be carried. Horse stealing is thus a most tempting business, especially to the more reckless ruffians, and it is always followed by armed men, and they can only be kept in check by ruthless severity."

NEW ATTRACTIONS

For the State Fair at Owensboro, Sept. 21-26.

At great expense the officers of the State Fair Association have engaged the fourteen shows of the Ferari Carnival Company for the big fair which will be held in Owensboro next week. This attraction is one of the largest that has ever been engaged for a fair in any but the large cities and costs a large sum of money. The officers of the fair, however, are not span ing any expense to make this the best fair that has ever been given in Kentucky, and in spite of the cost engaged the Ferari company. This company is acknowledged to be the leading attraction of its kind in the country, carrying 250 people and nevershowing in small templated for use on plows, by cities.

The engagement of the carnival company means that the state fair this year is to have many more attractions than ever before and that it will be run on a much more elaborate scale. Those interested in the fair are confident that the addition of the Ferrari show will be a big drawing card and they are jubilant of it. The company is now showing in Louisville in connection with the carnival of the General Labor Union, and has attracted large crowds each day. They have given universal satisfaction and it is conceded to be bition for anything and a feeling that the best carnival company ever the whole body and mind needs toning

ELECTRIC WHIP.

A Georgia mail carrier has invented an electric whip. The mail carrier drives a wagon with doors that could be closed in rain. In stormy weather he disliked to open the door to apply the lash to his horse, which, being an intelligent animal took advantage of the situation and always lagged in rainy weather. To overcome this the Georgia Edison attached a pair of copper plates under the harness saddle and connected them by a wire to a hand operated d, namo in the wagon. When the steed began to jog up and down, without making much advance, it was time to turn the dynamo crank, which gave the horse a very evident wish to get over the ground more rapidly, and almost any desired speed could be obtained, according to the number of rotations per minute given the dycamo armature. An apparatus is now con which both the mule and plow hand shall be automatically shocked every few minutes. It is believed that such an attachment would find a tremendous sale all over the South, as by its use farmers could be very sure that no darkey would go to sleep between the plow handles .- Scientific Am-

GOV. BECKHAM

Sounds the Keynote of the Democratic State Campaign.

Masterly Speech by Kentucky's Executive at Winchester, September 5th.

The Following Is the Text of Governor Beckham's Opening Speech at Winchester on Saturday.

I welcome the opportunity which this occasion presents, and I rejoice that the time is at hand for the democratic party, with its ranks united and enthusiastic, to enter a campaign before the people of Kentucky for the election of their state officers part November.

Kentucky for the election of their state officers next November.

On our part, I intend that the contest shall be an aggresive, not a defensive, one; that the people shall be thoroughly acquainted with the issues involved, and that in the full light of public view the democratic party, willingly, and the republican party unwillingly, must stand upon their respective records, and let the people judge between them. This is the policy which we seek, which we demand, and we intend to drag our reluctant adversaries from the dark recesses of a "gum-shoe campaign" and make them fight us, if they will, in the open light of day. While they seem to have determined upon a quiet and secret campaign, reed upon a quiet and secret campaign, re-lying upon the power of a big corruption fund and hoping that the democrats may be lulled into a sense of over-confidence we are determined to compel them to stand up and assume entire responsibility for the evil record they have made in

We have nothing to conceal; we invite a full and fair investigation of our record, and we gladly go before the people upon that record, believing implicitly in the sincerity or our purpose and in the rightcousness of our cause. We know the people of Kentucky, their love of honesty and courage, their hatred of fraud and deception, and with that knowledge we begin this campaign with no misgivings as to the result. Democrats need only do their full duty and the victory is won. Kentucky is a democratic state and intends to be governed by the democratic party. We seek to win by upholding the fair name of the state; the republican party tries to succeed by siandering it and making its name a byword of reproach throughout the land. We strive to maintain peace and pros-We have nothing to conceal; we invite We strive to maintain peace and pros-perity and to enforce the laws vigorous-ly and impartially; they would rather that such conditions would not exist, if they could get any spurious campaign material out of the state's distress. I ve. love law and order, and want to the state prosper. I know a large mber of excellent republican citizens Kentucky, and it is far from me to ter a harsh or unjust criticism about the control of the c their conventions, write their platforms, and nominate their candidates. What I shall say hereafter shall be directed at shall say hereafter shall be directed at this class, and I purpose before finishing to show to what depths of crime and in-famy some of them will go in their des-perate greed for office and power. There are nine state offices to be filled election in November. The republican vention which was characterized by some republican leaders as the most corrupt and unfair convention ever held. It was said that nothing could be done by the delegates, a very large number of whom delegates, a very large number of whom enjoyed lucrative positions in the federal service, until there was some oracular utterances of the wishes of the national administration at Washington. The power of the federal machine prevailed, and their ticket was nominated.

The democratic party, for the first time in the history of the state, in its desire to get as close to the people as possible, held a state primary on the 9th of last May and nominated its ticket. That primary, although an experiment, was most successful in all its features. No less than one hundred and fifteen thousand democrats voted in it, and it is safe to say that, although there was no contest for the office of governor, and it was a very busy season of the year, more than twice as many democrats took part in it than ever before took part in their nominations for state offices by the convention system. Each successful candidate won by such a large majority and didate won by such a large majority and the conduct of the primary was such that there could be not the slightest criticism as to the fairness and impartiality of the election. On the ticket with me were nominated eight honorable men, who are worthy of the democracy of Men.

were nominated eight honorable men, who are worthy of the democracy of Kentucky, men of excellent character and capacity, and deserving in every respect of the support of the good people of the commonwealth.

The people of Kentucky must choose between these two tickets and decide which one shall administer state affairs for the peyt four years. The letter are clearly drawn; the principles and policies of the two parties are thoroughly under-stood; each of them has been tried and tested by the experience of the last eight years, and there is not an intelligent years, and there is not an intelligent yeter in the state who does not under-stand the difference between the two parties and what each one represents. The democratic party stands pre-eminently for law and order, for peace and pros-perity. It promises and gives an honest and capable administration of state afand capable administration of state af-fairs. It believes in the rigid enforce-ment of the law against all criminals re-gardless of political or other considera-tions. It is against the assassination of a republican in Breathitt county just as much as it is against the assassination of a democrat in Franklin county. Its conventions or assemblages have never indersed or cheered the name of those in spapers sought to take up subscriptors to defend those whose only claim for help is that they murdered the leader of the opposite party. Without fear or favor it has stood for equal and exact justice to all. It seeks to build up Kentucky, not to defame her; to open up and develop her vast natural resources, to encourage industry, education, and advancement, to show the world that our state is not a laggard in the commercial progress of the age, and to prove that life, liberty and property are as safe here as anywhere else on earth. It believes that it is the duty of the government to protect the poor as well as the rich, to guard as jealously the interests of labor as well as of capital, and to preserve guard as jealously the interests of labor as well as of capital, and to preserve between them those just and equitable conditions which bring content and satisfaction to both. It believes in the prudent and careful management of the fiscal affairs of the state, and in the diligence and perseverence of its state officials in the collection of all claims due the state and the prompt application of such collections in the payment of the state's debts. The democratic party of Kentucky preaches the gospel of peace and tolerance, not of strite and hatred, and true to the eternal principles of its great founders, it unfurls to the breeze the white banner of brotherly love, upon whose folds are inscribed in letters which nose folds are inscribed in letters which in be read from the mountains to the ississippi, "United We Stand, Divided e Fail." There shall be no sectionalism Kentucky, but the good people of the ountains, of the Blue Grass, of the emprile, and of the Purchase, united as one under democratic rule, shall place our state, where she properly belongs. in the front rank of the commonwealths

Under that banner we shall march to certain victory, and restore to Kentucky that era of good feeling and contentment party, with its malice and vindictiveness, became a factor in the politics of the premacy did not disturb the dreams of

The platform adopted by the republicans at their convention in Louisville last July is without doubt the most complete combination of hypocrisy, fraud and plete combination of hypocrisy. plete combination of hypocrisy, fraud and misrepresentation ever put together. It is an insuit to intelligence, a contradiction of truth, and a libel upon every subject with which it purports to deal it has never been equaled in brazen effrontery since the republican convention three years ago deliberately indorsed W. B. Taylor, after he had been indicted for murder and ignominiously fled from the murder and ignominiously fled from the state, for his "patriotic and resolute course." The republican convention last July cheered vociferously the name of the same Taylor whose engagements in In-diana did not permit his attendance at a diana did not permit his artendance at a convention in Kentucky. Had circumstances allowed him to be present, the ovation accorded him would have exceeded every other demonstration in that convention. They yearned to see him that they might pay tribute to the man who was the arch-conspirator in the assassination of Wm. Goebel and the cowardly murderer who will not face a Kentucky jury on a trial of his guilt. This was the same convention which honored me through its resolution and its speakers by denouncing me and my administration. I glory in its condemnation, I rejoice that those who applaud assassins have no praise for me. If anything has happened in a brief career which should entitle my name to honorable mention to posterity. name to honorable mention to posterity t is the fact that this convention con ferred upon me the coveted distinction of its miserable censure. My pride is exalt-ed when I think that my conduct in offi-cial life has met with their cordial dis-approval. My administration of the af-fairs of state is commended for all time to come by the depunistion of these who fairs of state is commended for all time to come by the denunciation of those who exuited in Goebel's death and who love to pay homage to his murderers. My position in the confidence and affection of the good people of Kentucky is secure so long as I can merit the condemnation of such a convention as this.

Men who believe in murder as a political necessity have no sight to criticise.

ical necessity have no right to criticise the actions or conduct of their opponents. and are entitled to no credit or consider ation from honest people.

In their platform they say they are op-posed to "assassination whether in Ser-via or Kentucky." We hope they are sincere in what they say about Servia, for we know they are not about Ken-tucky. It depends entirely upon the quesfor we know they are not about Kentucky. It depends entirely upon the question as to what party the murdered king of Servia belonged; if he was a republican, they mean what they say; but if he was a democrat, then they are no more sincere than they are in what they say about Kentucky. The republican leaders of Kentucky should remove to Belgrade, where they would find a more congental climate for the use of their improved methods of political warfare. The present king of that country would Improved methods of political warfare. The present king of that country would probably grant them the same immunity from requisition as the present governor of Indiana does. It is quite certain that if the king should find his throne in danger from the claims of some rival, he could becrow a Marlin rifle from some prominent republican federal officeholder in Kentucky, who would cheerfully lend in Kentucky, who would cheerfully lend it, on account of the increased value of the gun after the deadly work had been accomplished. The man who wrote that platform about assassination in Servia might be considered a humorist if the subject was not so ghastly. His cruel nature, as he penned those lines, was full of delight when he indulged in such mockery, and saw in his mind, eve the form of delight when he indulged in such mocking of delight when he indulged in such mocking of Kentucky's governor, struck with the assassin's bullet and writhing in agony on the state house pavement. And yet these are the people who denounce me! This is the platform which says my administration has been bad! In my fondest dreams of popular favor I never expected such a complete triumph and vindication as this. Mr. Belknap, the nomine of that convention, may lay the flattering unction to his soul that he was the most honored man by the convention. I dispute the claim with him, and assert that I above every other man carried off the honors of that assemblage. For, while he received the nomifiation for governor, I was the chief object of their attacks and my brow was adorned with the chaplet wreath of their enviable abuse. No crusader of old, when he knelt before his sovereign to receive the order of knighthood in recognition of his of knighthood in recognition of his courage and valiancy, ever felt prouder than did I when that remarkable convention said that it saw nothing in my public record to approve.

said that it saw nothing in my public record to approve.

Now, let us look at that libelous document which they have put forth as their platform of "principles."

With a reckless disregard for truth it fires a general broadside shot at the present democratic administration, and it would have the people believe that we are as bad, if possible, as the republican organization in this state. It denounces what it is pleased to term the "odious democratic machine" now in control of Kentucky. This must have been intended as a little piece of pleasantry to relieve somewhat the monotony of the occasion, for it is said that when this humorous part of the platform about political machines was read a broad smile swept over the faces of all the delegates except those who were for Judge Pratt or Mr. Willson, for these latter delegates were not in a frame of mind just then to fully appreciate a joke of that kind. The idea of that convention denouncing a "machine" was a bit of witticism most too satanic to be enjoyed by these gentlemen. It is indeed very grafifying to methal chine" was a bit of witticism most too satanic to be enjoyed by these gentlemen. It is indeed very gratifying to me that the republicans have seen fit to attack the present democratic administration and thereby bring prominently before the people the work and actions of this administration, for I am convinced that the more discussion and investigation we have upon this subject, and the better the people understand it, the more creditable it will be to us, and we will be certainly indorsed at the polls. I do not want to appear boastful or to assume any credit to which I am not entitled, but I can say and prove beyond successful contradiction that the administration of affairs given by the present democratic officials for over three and a half years will compare favorably with any other administration in the history of the cratic officials for over three and a half years will compare favorably with any other administration in the history of the state, an especially so with the last republican administration of four years. The financial affairs of Kentucky are now—in the best condition ever known in the state. When the present administration came into power in February, 1900, the debt of the state was $1,000,000, and $500,000, or one-half of that debt, was created in 1897—during the republican administration. In the last six months we have paid off that debt before its maturity with the exception of $36,000, and the only reason we have not paid that is because we have not yet been able to have those thirty-six bonds presented for payment. We have the money to buy them with, and we hope by the first of the year to do so. The state is, therefore, practically out of debt—a distinction which is enjoyed by only three other states in the union. One-half of the debt would have been due in 1905, the other half in 1907. It has been paid out of some of the money collected by this administration from the national government on the civil war claims.

These bonds were all bought at the the civil war claims.

These bonds were all bought at the ost advantageous rates for the state-nd at prices which earned for the state a better investment than our money does when placed at the regular interest in the state depositories. During the last three years of the republican administration they had the highest tax rate we have ever paid, except in one instance many years ago, when it was the same, in addition to their doubling the debt of the state. In 1897 they raised the rate of tax at long from 4214 cents to 5214 cents on better investment than our money does taxation from 42½ cents to 52½ cents on the one hundred dollars, but they pro-vided in the law that at the end of three years this tax rate should fall 5 cents, or be reduced from 52½ to 47½. This reduc-tion therefore was timed not to take effect until the beginning of the next administration. It happened consequently that when we came into power in 1900, this reduction began, and the first two years of our administration we had to run on a 47½ cent rate instead of a 52½ cent rate, which our republican predecescent rate, which our republican predecessors had enjoyed. This reduction made a difference in our revenue the first year (1900) of $346,347.32, and the second year (1901) of $256,518.90, all of which would have been added to the revenues if we had been running at the republican rate of 52½ cents. This falling off in the revenues at that time made it difficult for us to meet, the recessory expresses. The to meet the necessary expenses. The ruinous and riotous conduct of the repub-lican regime under Taylor left us the present rate, but I am happy to say, that by reason of the prudence, economy and business-like management of the demo-erate state officials it will be possible for the general assembly next winter to sither materially reduce the present rate, or to so apportion it in the interest of the school fund that thereafter it will be posschool fund that thereafter it will be pos-sible, without additional taxation, to give a seven months' public school term in-stead of a five months' term, as now. This I believe would be a wise policy, and it is made possible by the financial management of the present democratic state officials. And yet Mr. Belknap talks about giving the state a "business" adstate officials. And yet Mr. Belknap talks about giving the state a "business" administration! But we shall pay our respects to him on that subject later on. with all our debts and claims paid there will be in the state treasury on the 1st of next January nearly $1,600,000. The largest showing ever before made in the state. There is not a state in the union whose fiscal affairs can make a better showing than ours. Still Mr. Belknap says you ought to have a change. What will the people say? I think I know the Ketnucky people too well to be uneasy about their verdict.

In addition to this excellent financial about their verdict.

In addition to this excellent financial showing it can also be proven that the present administration has done more to improve and enlarge the public institutions of the state than any other administration ever did. We have spent much money in needed improvements in all the charitable institutions, the state college, the state normal school for colored people, the deaf and dumb institute, and the two penitentiaries. All of these institutions are in a better condition now than ever before. The two prisons, instead of being a great drain upon the revenues of the state, as they used to be under the old management, are now under the business-like control of democratic officials self-supporting, and I am informed by the commissioners that this year they will pay a small revenue to the state instead of being a tax upon it, as was the case before the present system was adopted. Let us make a comparison upon this question of prison management and see the Let us make a comparison upon this question of prison management and see the tion of prison management and see the difference between the republican and the democratic administrations. During the years of 1896, 1897 and 1898, in Gov. Bradley's administration, to run the two prisons cost the state $320,757.01. During the years 1901, 1902 and 1903, under this administration, they have cost the state only years 1901, 1902 and 1903, under this administration, they have cost the state only $12,763.64. This makes a saving to the state in the three years of $307,903.37. These figures speak for themselves. Several of the charitable institutions of the state have been so administered that they state have been so administered that they have been able out of their allowances under the law to save enough to buy considerable additional land for their institutions and to make other valuable improvements—all out of their per capita allowance. Much political capital has been sought to be made out of the management of some of these institutions, but I can say and prove that never bebut I can say and prove that never be-fore were they more successfully or cap-ably managed than they have been dur-

ably managed than they have been during the last three years. There was some trouble at the Hopkinsville asylum over two years ago. I made a most careful investigation of it and concluded that the superintendent was responsible for it. I promptly removed him and put another man in his place. Since then there has been no trouble there. Last spring a big sensation was attempted to be made out of some charges of crueity to patients at the Lakeland asylum, and an effort made to hold me directly accountable for them the Lakeland asylum, and an effort made to hold me directly accountable for them because I had appointed the head officials of that institution. An investigation was made by the board of commissioners, and also by myself in person and by my representative. I found that in two cases attendants had used unnecessary force in dealing with patients, and when discovered the two attendants were promptly discharged. The principal charges made against the officials there, and about whose testimony so much was said by the hostile press, were made by two convict patients, George Portwood and Mary Noble, and to give some idea of the character of the fight on me. Like all governors, in some few cases I may have been imposed upon and made mistakes, but I have never issued a pardon for a political purpose, or where I did not conscientiously believe it to be right and just to do so. The pardoning power should be most carefully used, and I have tried the best I could to so use it, but a governor must have a heart of stone to resist all the pathetic appeals from mothers, wives and children for the release of a son, a husband, or a father. It is an awful responsibility and a trying ordeal that every governors, in some few cases I may have been imposed upon and made mistakes, but I have never issued a pardon for a political purpose, or where I did not conscientiously believe it to be right and just to do so. The pardoning power should be most carefully used, and I have tried the best I could not on the late o me for a full pardon. It was refused. He feigned insanity and was tried on that question last winter. The jury was deceived and authorized his transfer to the asylum. He was taken to Lakeland, but the doctors there quickly discovered his purpose, and that was to escape. They took extra precautions with him and prevented his doing so. He was therefore offended at them for not letting him get away, and at me because I did not pardon him. He was trying to "get even" in his testimony. He has been transferred back to the prison where he properly belongs. The other witness, Mary Noble, was transferred from the prison to the asylum. She, too, had to be closely watched. She was not insane. Her prison term expired while she was at the asylum and she was released. Since then she has been arrested upon a charge of housebreaking, and is now in the Louisville jail. Such is the testimony upon which the republicans rely about the "terrible state of affairs" at the asylum. There are about 1,300 patients in the institution, the population of a fifth-class town. It is impossible that in such a large institution there should not be an occasional mishap or wrong, but there have been remarkably few there during this administration, for the superintenaent and his assistants are men of the this administration, for the superintendent and his assistants are men of the kindest hearts and are as watchful and careful of the comfort of these unfortunate beings as it is possible to be. If I had had the slightest reason to believe that any one of them had been guilty of the least cruelty or negligence ne would have been promptly removed. No one visits that institution who is not impressed with its splendid management and the excellent care taken of the inmates. But the republicans are exceedingly hard up for campaign material, and are grasping at straws in their desperate efforts. However, if they are anxious to make an issue of the management of state institutions I will cheerfully accommodate them and compare this administration, with its troubles at the Lexington asylum, the Feeble Minded institute, the prisons and other places. I have nothing to conceal and would be proud of the comparison. The present administration has established one additional public institution, and that is the Home for the Aged and Infirm Confederate Soldiers at Pewee Valley, where the old veterans of the Confederacy who draw no pensions from the government can be well cared for and looked after in their old age. We have also passed a law giving material assistance to the Children's Home, one of the most praiseworthy charities in the state, where little orphans and waifs are gathered, and trained and prein the state, where little orphans and waifs are gathered, and trained and pro-vided with good homes. Such charities as these appeal to the sentiments of all good people. This same Republican platform under-

This same Republican platform undertakes to criticise me for what it terms my abuse of the pardoning power. Again they have performed a great service for me, for it calls forth an examination of my record and a comparison with the records of some of my predecessors. These records have been very carefully examined, they are open to the public. examined, they are open to the public and I am very proud of the showing which they make. I shall give the sta distics from the records of Gov. Brown, Gov. Bradley and my own. In doing so there is not the slightest desire or intention upon my part to reflect upon or criticize the actions of these two distinguished governors; for 1 believe the they acted conscientiously in these ma-ters and did what they thought wa right. But as this question has been brought up, and an unlimited number of misrepresentations and falsehoods have been circulated about my pardon record, and an effort made to create the impression that I have used the power excessively, I must make comparisons and let the people see how little truth there is in what has been said and published. The figures shown by the executive journals and the prison records reveal the fact that I have exercised executive elemency far less than either of these two predecessors, and that with prison population considered, my percentage of pardons will compare favorably with any other considered, my percentage of pardons will compare favorably with any other chief executive. The mendacity of certain republican newspapers about these matters as well as others in the last few months, has never been equaled. The republican organ at Louisville, edited and run by a gang of professional and dis-reputable blackmailers, has tried to see how many falsehoods it could publish legacy of many extraordinary expenses, and a disordered condition of the state's finances. The general assembly of 1902, therefore, found it necessary to increase the tax rate to 50 cents on the hundred employes, and they have not hesitated trial was recently held, and the jury con-at any misrepresentation. They have in victed both Jett and White and gave in a normal condition again. That is the present rate, but I am happy to say, that statements which they knew to be false, by reason of the prudence, economy and by their representatives have admitthen to be so. They give as their reason that "it is politics," and that is about as high a conception as they have of any moral principle. Of course, so foul a sheet as this is not deserving of foul a sheet as this is not deserving of this much notice, but as it claims to be the republican organ of the state, and seems to speak for that ticket, I take this occasion to call attention to its in-famous policies and methods. Now let us see what the records show, for facts and figures are sufficient to overcome falsehoods. I have been in office a little over three years and seven months. falsehoods. I have been in office a little over three years and seven months, which is about five months less than a full term. I have therefore served almost as long as each one of my two predecessors. The executive journals show that in felony cases before and after trial altogether, Gov. Brown issued 472 pardons, Gov. Bradley 428, and Gov. Beckham 225. The books of the wardens of the two prisons show that there have been released from those prisons the following number of convicts: By Gov. Brown 362, by Gov. Bradley 349, by Gov. Beckham 183. In cases of murder where the prisoner was serving a der where the prisoner was serving a life setnence in the prison, Gov. Brown pardoned 45, Gov. Bradley 56, Gov. Beckham II. Gov. Brown also pardoned six other life convicts, two of them for rape, and four serving a life sentence for a third conviction. Gov. Bradley and I issued no pardons in such instances. Taylor in his brief service issued pardons in 14 felony cases, including those whom he thought to be suspected of murdering Gov. Goebel. If I should serve out the next term of four years in addition to what I have served in this term, I will have been in office with the serve locking. what I have served in this term, I will have been in office eight years lacking nearly two months, and if I keep up the same rate of pardons that I have heretofore followed, I will not have pardoned in all that time of nearly eight years as many cases as each one of these two predecessors did in his four years' term. I have gone into these statistics not to criticise these two gentlemen, both of predecessors did in his four years' term. I have gone into these statistics not to criticise these two gentlemen, both of them men of experience and distinguished ability, but simply to show that I have not abused this great power and responsibility which has been placed in my hands. I desire a full publication of the records in these matters which will verify the figures I have used. These figures clearly show that I have not been in the least reckless in the use of the pardoning power, and show to some extent how unjust have been the attacks upon me about it. In the Raleigh case, about which so much has been so much falsehood, the circuit judge, prosecuting attorneys, the father of the girl who was killed, and a large number of officials and good citizens strongly recommended the pardon. My enemies have gone so far as to wilfully fabricate a story, in order to reflect upon me, that Raleigh fired upon this girl while she was fieeing from him after he had improperly accosted her. There never was a shadow of truth in this story, and a baser falsehood was never uttered. The father of the girl would never have asked for the pardon if such had been true. The late J. B. Marcum wrote a strong. ed for the pardon if such had been true.

The late J. B. Marcum wrote a strong letter in the case asking for the pardon, and stated that he did not believe that Raleigh had fired the shot which killed he girl. His statement certainly re-eves the case of any political coloring merely cite this as an illustration of

That there has been in that county, nobody denies; are have been gross exaggerations about the condimisrepresentations about the condi-there for political purposes, every-knows; and that the democratic the state have done everyhese troubles, no one now disputes. It is not the first time we have had these feudal troubles. Within the life of the present generation there have been just us serious feudal troubles, even more so, in other counties of the state, as this grouble in Breathitt. The troubles in Perry, in Clay, and in other counties, where state troops had to be sent, were even more desperate than this. The reason there has been so much said about this one is because there is a state campaign on and the republican party politically bankrupt in Kentucky, is hopeless-cally bankrupt in Kentucky, is hopelessly trying to manufacture some issue upon which it can go before the people. This trouble has been purely local and not half so serious as the feudal outbreak in Clay county during the last administration. Many people have forgotten about that simply because there happened to be no political exigercy calling for its conspicuous advertisement. The republican press has hesitated at no falsehood in its mad effort to make something out of that situation. They charged that I had pardoned twenty-seven felons from that county out of the penitentiary, when the prison records show only seven, and one other man was pardoned before he was sent to the prison. They circulated the sent to the prison. They circulated the report over the state that I had pardoned Curtis Jett eight times, when as a matter of fact he was pardoned once long before I knew anything about him for part of a jail sentence on a misde-meanor charge, and J. B. Marcum was the chief petitioner for the pardon. Such contemptible misstatements would de-serve no notice except for the fact that they have been circulated broadcast over the state, and many people have never seen any correction of them. A short statement of the facts covers the situa-tion there. The trouble reached the erists last May when Mr. Marcum was erisis last May when Mr. Marcum was assassinated by someone from the court house door. It was a cruel murder and I promptly took every step in my official power to have the assassin or assassins brought to trial. The democratic officials, both state and district, went vigorously to work to investigate the trouble and to punish the guilty parties. A prompt trial was had in Breethit. A prompt trial was had in Breathitt county, and a hung jury resulted, Eleven of the jury were in favor of hanging Jett, but the republican member insisted Jett, but the republican member insisted upon hanging the jury. The cases were transferred to Harrison county, where a

them a life sentence in the penitentiary. All of this happened, these two trials and the conviction, in three months from the time of the assassination, and yet it has been over three and a half years since William Goebel was murdered, and only one man of all those who conspired to assassinate bits. to assassinate him has received his pun-ishment. If the republicans had shown ishment. If the republicans had shown the same desire to punish his assassins that the democrats did to punish Marcum's assassins then both crimes would now be avenged. The troubles in Breathitt seem now to be at an end, and I believe there will be no further outbreak in that county. I have done everything that I could to relieve the situation there, and to see that the law should be rigidly and impartially enforced. It was a difficulty that could not be settled in a day, but it is a matter of fact that no other feudal trouble in Kentucky was ever suppressed and ended in so short a time. State troops have been used ever suppressed and ended in so short a time. State troops have been used there, and their service has done much good in restoring peace and establishing a thorough respect for the law. It has been hard to withdraw them or reduce their numbers, because the good people there have been so impressed with their valuable services in preserving the peace that they have been much opposed to the soldiers leaving. But the force is now reduced to about 25 men, and in a short while they can be taken away. I have always been extremely careful about catling the military power into active service, and have only them a promise that I did not fulfill. I want them to understand my position about these matters fully, and I have no desire to conceal that position whatever. I do not believe in prejudging a case that may come before me officially, but I have carefully followed and evaporate and closely watched the proceedings in the case of the two men, Jett and White, at Cynthiana, I feel that I am fully acquainted with the facts, and I believe, as did that jury, that they were guilty of the assassination of Marcum, and I can say to the people that I will never pardon them of that crime, even though Marcum was a republican leader in his section. Will Mr. Belknap be as frank about what he would do in the case of those who murdered Goebel? No glittering generalities about seeing the tering generalities about seeing the guilty punished will do. He must be specific and direct, as I am. He knows, or ought to know, the truth about that assassination. The evidence has been before the public for a long time and the history of that crime is familiar to all. It was the most fiendish and cruel murder in the most fiendish and cruel murder in the history of Kentucky. It was the result of a deliberate plot and conspiracy. The democratic leader of the state, and the man who had been honestly elected governor, was foully shot down by an assassin concealed in the executive building of the state and under the protection of the usurping republican governor, whom Mr. Belknap's convention cheered and indorsed. No man has ever yet been hanged for that infamous crime. Only one has ever donned the stripes for his one has ever donned the stripes for his part in it. Many of the guilty are now known; all of them may never be known. I would not prejudge this case either, but every intelligent citizen of Kentucky is familiar with the facts. I ask Mr. Belknap, the outraged people of Kentucky. Is familiar with the facts. I ask Mr. Belknap, the outraged people of Kentucky ask nim, the shade of the murdered Goebel asks him, do you intend, if elected governor, to pardon Howard, Powers, or others implicated in that conspiracy? Would you, if so fortunate as to win this race, ever try by requisition, as I intend to do again, to bring back Taylor and Finley, the self-confessed assassins, to answer before a Kentucky jury for their part in that murder?

jury for their part in that murder?

I believe my state to be the best in the union, and her people to be the noblest and greatest on earth. I am proud of Kentucky, and I shall always resent any reflection upon her honor.

You aspire to be governor of this great commonwealth and are now my opponent for that honorable office. Will you then take a position along with Gov. Durbin, of Indiana, and say that these men can not get a fair trial in Kentucky, and that our courts and juries are a farce? This, too, the state over which you are so ambitious to preside as chief executive? Let him answer these questions beso ambilious to preside as chief execu-tive? Let him answer these questions before the people.

But above all, the greatest service and kindness rendered me or anybody else by the late republican convention was its action in giving special prominence to my part in the collection of claims against the government. I was afraid against the government. I was afraid they might purposely overlook it and try to keep it out of this campaign. But with their customary foolishness and idiocy they unintentionally and blindly helped me by calling the attention of the people to my action in the matter. If there had not been so many mean things said about me in that convention I would really believe that its whole and sole purpose was to make my election absolutely sure. After my election I intend to forgive them for the unkind things they said about me. In grateful recognition of the valuable assistance they have rendered me in emphasizing those very questions which I am particularly anxious for the people to understand.

I am a firm believer in the intelligence and honesty of the great common people. What success I have had in public life is due to one thing more than all others, and that is, I have never fallen into the error of most politicians in not giving the people credit for having as much sense as they really have. I never espouse a cause until I am thoroughly convinced that it is right, and I know that the people will always take the right side of it as soon as they understand it.

I have collected, through Capt. Calhoun, the agent whom I selected for the state, nearly $1,500,000 upon neglected claims due from the national government, and I make the assertion, which I can prove, that Kentucky has collected this money at less cost than any other state in the union has collected similar claims. Some of this was collected in the way of arms and equipments. About $121,000 was collected for some extra pay due Kentucky soldiers during the Spanish-American war. There was not a soldier in the state who had any idea that the money was due him.

The last administration either made no

The last administration either made no The last administration either made no effort or failed to collect it. Capt. Calhoun by hard labor and a persistent fight succeeded in securing this amount. At one stage of the effort, by his skill and ability he succeeded in having the amount raised from $67,000 to $121,000.

I had no authority under the law to use the state's money for the collection and disbursement of this claim, and I allowed him under contract fifteen per cent. for his services and no other state has collected such a claim at less cost. The soldier boys never objected to it, for t was like finding money to them.

The soldier boys never objected to it, for t was like finding money to them.

The largest amount collected by Calhoun were the civil war claims, amounting to $1.323,999.35. This had been due the state for a number of years, but since 1879 no serious attempt had been made to collect it, though the last administration had notice of it. I paid for its collection five and three-eighths per cent., and that is without exception the most cheaply collected claim of the kind ever made by any state. I give a list of such claims any state. I give a list of such claims collected by nine states. Kentucky is the only democratic state in the list, and her percentage for collection is far the lowest of all the others.

entucky ... Maine Massachusetts .. 2,500,000.00 Vermont Indiana Pennsylvania Rhode Island New Hampshire.. *Suit was brought against the state to

(The Massachusetts claim has not yet been paid by the government, but has been allowed by the auditor for the war department for a few dollars more than the amount above stated.)

This comparison shows how unjust has been the criticism of me for the fee allowed for the collection of these claims. I have no apology whatever to make for it. I am proud of it, and I would do the same thing again, if the occasion should arise. Out of this money we have paid off our state debt and still have a balance left from it of $247,693.84. I have Capt. Calhoun in Washington now trying to collect more money for the state and for our soldiers. No man ever deserved his pay more than he does for his splendid services to the state, and no honest citizen of Kentucky begrudges him one cent of his fee. I want this whole matter fully discussed before the people and understood by them. The statement made by some irresponsible persons that I had originally employed him for a fee not to exceed $3,000 on the whole amount is nothing more or less than a deliberate falsepaid off our state debt and still have a ing more or less than a deliberate false-hood. The $3,000 limitation simply applied to each claim, for this whole amount was made up of a large number of separate

The general assembly with scarcely any opposition passed a bill which in effect ratified the contract.

The republicans have been talking a great deal about giving us a "business" administration. We hope they do not mean the same kind of "business" that their last candidate for governor, Taylor, gave us. We have had quite enough of that, and the people of Kentucky after their sad experience with the diseasure. their sad experience with the disastrous policies and military methods of the republican party during its rule in the state are inclined to be very *keptical about this proposed "business" administration. It looks too much like the Trojan horse and we fear that it this roble. tration. It looks too much like the Iro-jan horse, and we fear that if this noble-looking republican equine should, by chance, be admitted into the state capitol, It would be found that it was full of Taylors, Finleys, Powers, Howards and similar characters.

lors, Finleys, Powers, Howards and similar characters.

My distinguished opponent, not only in his speech accepting the nomination, promised, in the event of his election, to undertake the miraculous task of "restoring nature's nobility to Kentucky." but he has also in all of his utterances talked about having a "business" administration and told about his great success as a business man. He and his party charge that I am not a business man, and that this has not been a business administration. It is true that, unlike my friend. Mr. Belknap, I have neither inherited nor accumulated a vast fortune. Since I entered the public service at the age of nineteen as a teacher in the common schools, down to this good hour, I have been a poor man, and a failure in the art of accumulating money for myself. The governor to-day is just as poor financially as was the school teacher fifteen years ago, and I must confess that in this respect my opponent is far more than a match for me. But without being boastful, I believe that I can modestly and justly lay claim to the fact that my services to the commonwealth have been and justly lay claim to the fact that my services to the commonwealth have been from a business standpoint equally as successful as his services have been for himself. When I came into this office, at a time of great civil discord, with law-lessness and crime rampant, with the state capital in the hands of an armed mob, and with the whole structure of our state government upon the verge of revolution and anarchy, I found the fiscal affairs of the commonwealth in a disordered condition, and a debt upon the state fairs of the commonwealth in a disordered condition, and a debt upon the state of $1.000,000. As I have shown before, the democratic administration, by its diligence and businesslike methods, has placed the state in the best financial condition it ever enjoyed before, and has paid off before it was due almost the entire debt. I believe it is safe to say that in no similar period in our history has more capital been invested in Kentucky than has been during this administration, because it has been assured of the rigid because it has been assured of the rigid enforcement of the laws. Kentucky has never been in a better condition than now for commercial and industrial de-velopment. Some idea can be given in this line by an examination of the recthis line by an examination of the rec-ords in the corporation department of the secretary of state's office. It is a cri-terion or a pulse which indicates to a large extent the business activity in the state. Let us make a comparison from the records and see what they show. Dur-ing the four years of the republican ad-ministration there were organized under the laws of the state 800 corporations ministration there were organized under the laws of the state 860 corporations, with an aggregate capital of $36,668,730, and the organization tax paid thereon into the state treasury was $36,668.94. During the first three years and six months of this administration there were organized 1.792 corporations, with a capital of 89.602.795, and the organization tax on it which went into the state freasury was which went into the state freasury was $99,603. The current six months of this term will largely increase this showing. The difference will be more than 3 to 1 in our favor, and it indicates that the business interests have great confidence in a democratic administration. Even the firm of W. B. Belknap & Co., of which my opponent is a member, has prospered so greatly under this administration that they found it necessary to reincorporate last spring and increased their capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,500,000. Surely he ought to be satisfied with the condition of affairs under democratic rule, when he enjoys such prosperity as that. I do not know what changes in business methods he would inaugurate in the state government, but I augurate in the state government, but I am quite sure that some such methods practiced by his firm would not be tolerated by the people in the conduct of their affairs. I respect Mr. Belknap as a man and gentleman, but as he and his party have seen fit to measure him as a business man against me and are seek. ing to disparage me, and his newspapers are daily reeking with foul slanders are daily reeking with foul slanders against me, he, too, must stand under close inspection as to his merits in that. I may not have been such a success as he has so far as my personal interests are concerned, but I at least have enough business sagacity to know the difference between a four-horse wagon and a shotgun, and I have never been indicted by a federal court and compelled to pay a fine upon a plea of guilty for not drawa federal court and compelled to pay a fine upon a plea of guilty for not drawing the proper distinction between those two valuable articles of interstate commerce. Since I have been governor every official and employe in the state government has received from me the most courteous and considerate treatment. I am a democrat in practice as well as in principle, and the door of my office has principle, and the door of my office has been opened as cordially to the humblest citizen in the commonwealth as to the proudest. The laboring man, whethe from the field, the factory, or the mine with nature's honest sweat upon his brow, has always been as welcome in my presence as the head of any powerful corporation. Such have been my policy corporation. Such have been my policy and business methods in the past, and such they will be in the future should the good people of Kentucky again elect me to this high office. I have tried to the best of my ability to perform my duties honorably and to treat all classes and all parties, even our republican friends, with equal and evact justice and and all parties, even our republican friends, with equal and exact justice and

In conclusion, my fellow-citizens, I am glad to give hope to you of a brilliant victory at the polls in November. I ask of the democratic people of Kentucky that they be not satisfied with a small that they be not satisfied with a small majority, but that they shall roll up such a tremendous vote it will remove for a long time to come all danger of republican supremacy, take Kentucky absolutely out of the doubtful column, and send good cheer to the hearts of the national democracy. Let the victory be complete and permanent, and let us send but the promise with reason and continue the promise with the p out the promise, with reason and con-fidence, to the democrats throughout the ountry that next year, when our presidential ticket is nominated, Kentucky is certainly for it by a good, old-fashioned certainly for it by a good, old-fashioned majority. It can be done, it will be done, if our people will only realize the briliant opportunity before them and will do their full duty in this election. The democratic party in Kentucky is more anited and harmonious now than it has been in ten years. Most of those who left us in 1896 and 1899 have returned to the fold, and we should greet them with neartiness and cordiality. Let the past be forgotten, and let us stand together nenceforth shoulder to shoulder as democrats with our hearts full of devotion for the welfare of our state and nation. Lift up on high the banner of democracy, pure and undefiled, and with your arms bared for work in a righteous cause, your pared for work in a righteous cause, your eyes fixed upon the bright star of hope, place that honored banner, not only upon the capitol of your state, but also upon
